For successful sterilisation of medical instruments to take place. Prior to autoclaving, it is of paramount importance that debris is removed from all instrument surfaces. Ultrasonic cleaning is a proven and efficient method of removal. This ensures good steam contact, steam penetration and ultimately effective sterilisation.
An ultrasonic cleaner requires very little maintenance, but it is vital that the cleaning solution is regularly changed to aid the cleaning process.

Rental Contracts

Excel autoclaves are available to rent over a 36 month period.

At regular 12 monthly intervals an engineer will carry out a full service, validation, pressure vessel inspection and issue full certification. All rental contracts include breakdown cover.

If you wish to renew your rental contract at the end of the 36 month period you have two options available. You can either renew with your current autoclave at a lower cost or upgrade to the latest model at current prices.

Maintenance

Regular servicing and calibration of all autoclaves is now recognised as an essential requirement, there is also a legal obligation to ensure a pressure vessel inspection is carried out annually.

To help you comply with these essential requirements Excel Healthcare offers two service and calibration options.

You can either choose to have an annual service or a service contract plan. On each service visit an engineer will carry out a full service, validation, pressure vessel inspection and issue full certification. The service contract has the added benefit of providing breakdown cover.

All maintenance options can be purchased via our website.
